NOTICE TO SICK WOMEN

Positive Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieves Suffering.

Bridgeton, N.J.—"I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for inflammation and other weaknesses. I was very irregular and would have terrible pains so that I could hardly take a step. Sometimes I would be so miserable that I could not sweep a room. I time but felt po change. I later took Lydia E. Pink-ham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt a change for the better. I took it until I was in good healthy condition. I recommend the Pinkham remedies to all women as I have used them with such good results."—Mrs. MILFORD T. CUMMINGS, 322 Harmony St., Penn's Grove, N. J.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence of the excellence of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the distressing ills of women such as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, backache, painful periods, nervousness and kindred ailments.

Prof. W. F. Kirkpatrick of the Connecticut Agricultural college spoke briefly upon the garden movement, the advice being given gratis to farmers all over the country and he referred to the unprecedented demand on workers in the agricultural colleges and the raising of state and national food committees.

All is evidence that we are in the midst of the most extraordinary agricultural excitement ever known, he said.

Now what shall poultrymen do about their hens The conference at St. Louis, another at Chicago and the Secretary of agriculture, have all said poultry products ought to be doubled. The chicken man can render real

The chicken man can render real service by growing poultry and in general it will be to his own private advantage because it cost money to let plants be idle.

Future demand for stock looks promising. Prices of poultry products must ultimately rise to the same level as proces of other commodities. It's good farm management not to change one's business too often. change one's business too often.

Business can be made more profitable by culling out the drones and sell ble by culling out the drones and selling, thus reducing the grain bill, and keeping only the best for breeders; by marketing surplus males. Selling infertile eggs and by better management, get higher average yields.

It is said that annually 500,000,000 bushels of grain are used in this country for alcoholic beverages. This is enough grain to feed all the hens in Connecticut 300 years.

As a purely economic proposition.

As a purely economic proposition would it not be wise for the poultry-men to at least temporarily join the probitionists, and help to divert this tremendous amount of grain for the purpose of feeding poultry and people. The arrangments for the convention here were made by Henry Congdon.
